Plan, Says Nation
Wants Refugee Entry

Jewish Telegraphic Agency
WASHINGTON—Criticizing opposition of "certain groups" in Alaska to colonization of refugees, Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes has declared that the proposed settlement in the territory had received one of the most comprehensive endorsements of any major, far-reaching national development ever proposed in the United States.

Approval of the plan was given by 84½ per cent of 338 newspapers which carried editorials on the subject, Secretary Ickes said, with 7 per cent non-committal and 8½ per cent disapproving. Of the 4,135 letters received up to Feb. 2, fewer than one-half of 1 per cent were critical.

While continental reaction has been overwhelmingly favorable, Ickes declared, certain groups in the sparsely settled territory have voiced objection, claiming that Alaska should not be singled out for special legislation which would allow groups of American citizens and immigrants from Europe to settle there. The Chambers of Commerce of Juneau, Anchorage, Douglas and Fairbanks have taken stand against various aspects of the plan.

Pointing out that Alaska constantly requests and receives special legislation because of its special problems, Secretary Ickes said: Much of this opposition is couched in incomprehensible phraseology. It is mainly from a handful of Alaska's 30,000 white population, which feels that its monopoly of Alaskan resources would be threatened by an increased population.

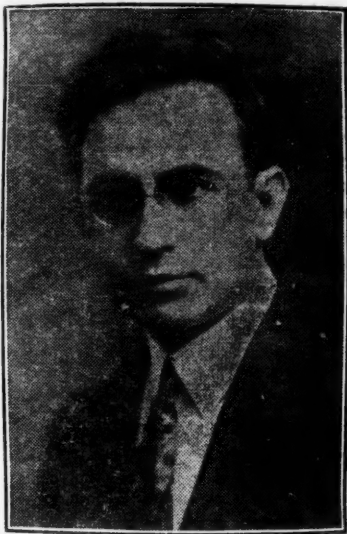

On the other hand, the statement said, four of Alaska's Chambers of Commerce—those in Seward, Corvova, Skagway and Petersburg—have expressed belief in the feasibility of the plan and have offered very cooperation.

The proposed program, which would provide for development of Alaskan resources by privately financed limited-dividend corporations under government supervision, has attracted the attention of business people throughout the United States, Ickes said. It is expected that these would form a nucleus of business pioneers, furnishing the capital for enterprises upon which colonization would be based.

Newspaper Says Welles Should Visit Poland

Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—The London Daily Telegraph and Morning Post, commenting on President Roosevelt's sending of Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles to capitals of belligerent countries, said: "It may be hoped that apart from his studies in the four main capitals he will see something of what the Germans are doing in Poland and Czechoslovakia."

(In Washington, it appeared very unlikely that Welles would visit Poland or any part of German territories except Berlin.)

Speaker Says Rapprochement of Jew
And Arabs Is Evoking Amazement

Special
NEW YORK.—The Post-war borders of Jewish occupied areas in Palestine are being set now by the Jews themselves, not by "outside powers," according to Miss Shulamith Schwartz of this city, who until recently lived in Palestine for five years.

Miss Schwartz, who is completing her doctorate studies at Columbia, spoke Sunday at a conference of Junior Hadassah in the Hotel Astor. She said that the boundaries of Jewish territory in Palestine are being gradually extended by the purchase of land from eager Arab sellers. She cited the sale of land as an example of the growing rapprochement between Arabs and Jews since the outbreak of the European war, which halted "the foreign financing" of the three-year Arab revolt. Arab-owned land is now being offered to the Jewish National Fund, the speaker said, even in sections which had long been regarded as "purely and permanently Arabic."

Miss Schwartz declared that friendly relations between Arabs and Jews are being resumed with such rapidity that even the Jewish and Arab presses have commented on it in wonder. She said: "Arabs are swarming into Jewish

I. H. C. SETS JUDAISM
INSTITUTE MONDAY*Gisela Warburg Speaker
For Hadassah Luncheon

A survey of conditions among Jewish child refugees in warring and neutral countries of Europe will be given here by Miss Gisela Warburg of Berlin at the Hadassah Donor Luncheon Feb. 28 at the Claypool Hotel, Mrs. S. A. Silberman, president of the group, announced today.

Miss Warburg is a member of the German branch of the internationally known banking family and has been one of the directors and active workers for the Youth Aliyah movement in her native land since the advent of the National Socialist regime there. Between 1935 and 1938 she was head of the German association for the immigration of Jewish children and youth, an organization which had the task of selecting applicants for emigration to Palestine from among the tens of thousands who applied for transfer to the Holy Land between those dates.

Originally interested in Palestine through her meeting with Miss Henrietta Szold, founder of Hadassah who now heads the Youth Aliyah Bureau in Jerusalem, Miss Warburg recently made an extended tour of English temporary schools and camps where the refugee children had been settled "in transit" prior to the outbreak of the war. She visited Palestine three times and arrived from London in this country a few weeks ago.

According to Mrs. J. A. Goodman of this city, Youth Aliyah chairman of the local Hadassah chapter, since the outbreak of the war the movement has been able to remove more than three hundred children holding certificates for entrance into Palestine directly from Germany to Italy where they were permitted to embark for the Holy Land. Under the auspices of the group, which has been transferring Jewish children from Europe to Palestine since 1934, the work of removing young exiles stranded in neutral and Allied countries also has been able to continue. The organization main-

BOARD MEETING MONDAY

A board meeting of the Joseph and Anna Borinstein Home for the Aged has been arranged at 9:45 a. m., Tuesday, Feb. 20, at Kirshbaum Center.

YOUR
FUND

PRIOR to the formation of the Jewish Welfare Fund, community giving was based more on the strength of appeal from national organizations than upon their actual worth or needs. As a result, worthy causes sometimes received less than their share and others more. With duplication of campaign and administrative expenses, the net to the agency was in many instances about half of the amount raised.

The basis of Jewish Welfare Fund giving is founded upon a just and equitable manner of allocation. Each organization seeking aid is studied by a subcommittee of the general budget committee. This committee passes its recommendation on to the general committee for review, who in turn present their decisions to the board of directors. The latter's judgment is final.

To aid Welfare Funds in properly evaluating the work of these agencies, the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds prepares a yearly Digest, supplemented by monthly releases on every organization which has received or is seeking contributions from welfare funds. These digests, kept constantly up to date, plus information received from other reliable sources provide an intelligent working basis for both the budget committees and the welfare fund with the complete assurance to subscribers that their money is going to a worthy cause in the right proportion.

The various agencies to which your Jewish Welfare Fund gives, cover all phases of Jewish life and include relief, reconstruction and cultural development. For descriptive purposes they have been segregated according to the field in which they serve and each week information on one or more will be printed in this column.

The United Jewish Appeal for Refugees and Overseas Needs was established in 1939 to serve as the single instrument through which enlarged resources could be made available for the extraordinary financial responsibilities arising out of the relief and rehabilitation requirements of the Jews in Europe, the settlement of Jews in Palestine and the integration of refugees in the United States. It has been accepted as the most effective means of supporting the programs of the Joint Distribution Committee, the United Palestine Appeal and the National Refugee Service.

American Israel is called upon to raise through the United Jewish Appeal a minimum sum of $23,000,000 in 1940. The year 1940 finds the agencies in the United Jewish Appeal confronted with responsibilities of overwhelming scope and gravity. Chief of the problems that must be dealt with is the plight of millions of Jews in and of Poland. After suffering from the ravages of war, the Jews of Poland, always destitute, are now on the brink of starvation and death. There are today 5,500,000 Jews in the European countries in distress. From them, comes a desperate plea to the Joint Distribution Committee for help. One-third of these unfortunates are in German-held territory.

The United Palestine Appeal is the instrument through which the Jews of America make available funds for every phase of the rebuilding and resettlement program in Palestine. Its two constituent agencies are the Palestine Foundation Fund, the fiscal instrument of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, and the Jewish National Fund, the agency for land redemption. The Palestine Foundation Fund assists in the agricultural and urban settlement of immigrants, furtherance of labor and housing, development of trade and industry, education and culture, promotion of national security, health and social service, and every enterprise designed to increase the absorptive capacity for Jewish immigration.

The Jewish National Fund, which purchases the land on which a new Jewish agricultural existence finds its bases, obtained in the year ended Sept. 30, 1939, a new high sum of 51,892 dunams of land in areas of vital economic and strategic importance, bringing its total possessions to 471,000 dunams, or 35 per cent of all Jewish owned land in the country. For the supplementary support of orthodox institutions in Palestine, the United Palestine Appeal also makes a grant to the Mizrahi Palestine Fund.

Continuing its role as a haven, Palestine, during the twelve months ended September 30, 1939, provided a home for 35,000 Jewish men, women and children who escaped from Germany, Poland and other lands in Europe. From the outbreak of hostilities through December, 1939, some 8,000 immigrants made their way to Palestine despite the war.

Soviet Admits Jews Still Follow Faith

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
MOSCOW—After 22 years of effort, the Union of Militant Jewish Atheists virtually admitted that it has not been able to wipe out practice of the Jewish religion in Soviet Russia. The tacit admission was contained in a report that the Union last year, despite a campaign covering two decades, still found it necessary to organize 15,000 to 20,000 lectures throughout Russia to combat Judaism.

The ineffectiveness of the campaign is causing considerable perturbation in Jewish Communist circles, according to long articles appearing in the press. One paper, the Kiever Stern, complains that anti-religious propaganda is being carried on half-heartedly among the Jewish masses and that no such propaganda is carried on in the Yiddish tongue.

The same paper cites as an instance of the campaign's failure the fact that the former secretary of the atheists' union arranged a Jewish religious ceremony for the circumcision of his recently born son. "It can be easily imagined what value the anti-religious activities of such an atheist can have had when he himself persists in superstitious beliefs."

"ALLEY TRASH" By Jack Falk

Some men follow the horses; others follow the crowds; but whenever there is a good bowling exhibition going on around town, you can bet on Max Kosof to be there. In fact, he had sufficient bowling inspiration last Sunday to not only cop the honors, but recoup some of his previous losses. Just like the gals say, "Maxie sure has winning ways."

Dave Yaver certainly knows how to "dress" a good game. Regardless of the fact that he is the business manager of the firm, Argus-Yaver, mens' clothes stylists supreme, Dave always displays something new in wearing apparel each week. Yes sir, he is known as "Collegiate Dave" or "Kid Esquire, himself."

Jack Kammins, due to illness in his family, was unable to be with us on time, but arrived before the termination of the matches. He was accompanied by his little three-year-old daughter, Diana Louise, who proved to be an enthusiastic spectator.

We have a new brigade known as the "pants droopers." The president is Max Cassen; vice president, Sid Seligman; secretary-treasurer, Bud Mossler. Max fouls with his "stomach" every time he bowls; Sid says his pants bind him underneath the arms if he wears

OFFICE NOTES

A call from Mrs. Lewis Levy thanking us for the publicity on Beth El Sisterhood. Same from H. Joseph Hyman in connection with the Jewish Welfare Fund, and a letter from Jack Kammins with thanks for President's Ball publicity. And a call from a fellow named Barnett, from down S. A. M. way, explaining that the publicity which arrived here Thursday was mailed in Bloomington Tuesday night. Also a call wanting to know if the A. Z. A. dance Sunday is open to the public. It is. Among others, an inquiry on Rosh Chodesh Adar. It was Saturday.

HERE AND THERE

Ran into Ben Kaufman downtown last Friday. He's the progressive publisher of the daily paper in Spencer, Ind., and was in town with the frau for the regular check-up with the doctor on his baby daughter. Also a note from Ruth Bernstein of Beta Nu listing Mildred Cohen, Goldie Lieberman and herself as having been omitted from our article last week on the group's winning of the jamboree loving cup.

LUDWIG LEWISOHN

Dan Frisch, who is an intimate friend of Ludwig Lewisoohn, knew all about his contemplated marriage which made headlines in the daily papers. If I haven't told you about it already, remind me to write about the novel of Lewisoohn's in which Frisch as Frosch takes up almost half of the book.

MORE NOTES

National headquarters of Hadassah have listed Mrs. J. A. Goodman as "the best worker and money raiser they've ever had," according to reliable information. At the shop last week, they must have had an anti-Semitic linotype operator. The galley proofs came back with such gems as Jawish and Pewish, among others, when the word should have been you know what. And what prominent Jewish woman here says Rabbi Goldblatt reminds her of Rabbi Messing, of blessed memory, who formerly occupied the temple pulpit?

NOTES

What B'nai B'rith Lodge was bequeathed $6,000 by one of its very loyal members who passed away last month? And what stalwart of the same lodge is being groomed for district president five years hence? He once talked Saul Munter down, so you know's he's capable.

PEPSI-COLA

Go beat the Domonts. First, Ben and the Mr. and Mrs. drive down to Miami Beach months ago. Then Thursday Gus takes the train for the Florida resort, where he will meet Ben, who will use the back end of his round-trip ticket to return to this frozen North. Next month, then, Gus and the heads of the family will drive back, when the spring breezes begin to blow, and that makes the end of a pleasant arrangement.

TERRE HAUTE AGAIN

I had better stop writing about Terre Haute or people will be calling this The Terre Haute Jewish Post. But anyway, Rabbi Charry spoke to the Temple Israel Sisterhood there Monday night, and it was the best speech I have ever heard him make. He dared me to go to sleep on him while he spoke, but unfortunately I was sitting at the speaker's table. But I almost got him later on when we went over to the home of the Sisterhood's president, charming Mrs. Elmer Wohlfeld. The Greenburgs, who operate the Sanitary Baking Company (Kosher) in Terre Haute, make the most delicious pastries and bread. Rabbi Taxay, who is chaplain for the Jewish War Vets, attended the mid-year convention of the organization in Cleveland.

GOLDEN GLOVES

Fighting tonight for the championship in the Indianapolis Golden Gloves tourney is Ted Velonis, 126-pound amateur leather pusher, who learned the rudiments of boxing at Kirshbaum. Ted, who is Jewish, of course, has scored a knockout and won a decision to advance thus far, and it would be swell if he could bring home the (Kosher) bacon. A fauxpas was almost made in arranging the luncheon for the institute Monday at the temple. Until it was remembered that this is the Lenten season, a roast beef meal had been planned, but this of course was changed post haste to fish. And in case you're interested, the meal will be Kosher, too.

Jewish Music Club Plans Talent Auditions

The Podium, a club organized to further the appreciation of music through listening to recordings, general discussions, and occasional guest soloists, met at the home of Miss Jean Jaffe, chairman, recently.

A big spring music festival and dance to be held in the latter part of April is being planned. Singers, dancers or players of instruments are asked to contact Miss Cecilia Klein by calling Ha. 0689 or Miss Jean Jaffe by writing to 3009 Boulevard Place.

tains schools and places refugee children with private farmers in England, Holland, Denmark, Germany, Lithuania and France prior to their removal to the Holy Land so that they may have preparatory training for the kind of life they will lead in their new home, Mrs. Goodman stated.

Once in Palestine, the children are placed with 78 agricultural co-operatives and several training schools which specialize in educating young people for industry, the arts and crafts. To date more than 1,700 young people who came to Palestine between the ages of 15 and 17 have been graduated from these courses and given employ-

2 Million Jews Without Matzos Unless Aid Given

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

PARIS—The problem of supplying 2,000,000 Jews in Nazi-held territories with matzoth for the approaching Passover holiday is being discussed by central Jewish relief organizations here. Consideration of the problem, which has become acute since the conquest of Poland, followed an appeal by the Vienna Jewish Community urging world Jewry to secure timely delivery of the unleavened bread in Nazi areas.

With Passover near and with the difficulties which Jews in Nazi territories face in obtaining even ordinary rationed bread, Jewish communities in Germany and Austria feel that unless Passover food is sent in from abroad all the Jews under the Nazi regime will for the first time in their history be without matzoth on the holiday.

3 Faiths To Sponsor Talk By Judge Allen

Judge Florence E. Allen of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Covington, Ky., will speak on "Tolerance" at a meeting Sunday afternoon, Feb. 25, under the sponsorship of the Jewish Federation, the Catholic Charities Bureau and the Church Federation of Indianapolis. Rabbi Maurice Goldblatt is a member of the committee in charge of arrangements.

ment in their selected vocations. More than 76 per cent of the graduates have elected to remain on the soil as farmers, Mrs. Goodman said.

The final meeting of the donor luncheon committee has been arranged for 1 p. m., Wednesday, Feb. 21, at the home of Mrs. J. A. Goodman on Kessler boulevard.

City's Organizations Invited To K. of C. Y.M.C.A., Lodge Me

Every organization, temple and synagogue in the community has been invited to attend the joint meeting of the B'nai B'rith with Knights of Columbus and Y. C. A. Thursday, Feb. 29, at the World War Memorial auditorium as part of the National Brotherhood Week. The meeting will be the first time these organizations have met together.

The program will include a round table or panel discussion featuring a nationally famous priest, minister and rabbi under auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The meeting merits the support of the entire community, Jack Kammins, B'nai B'rith president said. William Bradley, grand knight of the K. of C., and Fernand C. Cannon, president of the Y. C. A., and their committees have been working with the committee of the B'nai B'rith on the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bloom of Cincinnati announce the engagement of their daughter Betty Ruth to Julian Vigran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vigran of Richmond, Ind.

TO BUILD BARRACKS

JERUSALEM — The British Army let a $150,000 contract to the Solel Boneh, Jewish building cooperative, to erect barracks "somewhere in Palestine." The construction will require two to three months and will engage 600 to 700 workers.

Passports Recalled

ROME — Passports of nearly all Italian Jews have been recalled by the Interior Ministry. The action was taken without previous notice following urgent summons to individual Jews holding passports to report to the passport control office. Only those contemplating emigration in the near future have been given back their passports. Some of these were compelled to sign statements that they would not return to Italy.

Jewish Council Hits Isserman View As Rabbi Also Resigns

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

ST. LOUIS — Rabbi Ferdinand Isserman, whose recent speech in a Protestant Church criticizing President Roosevelt's appointment of Myron C. Taylor as envoy to the Vatican caused the resignation of the five Catholic members from the St. Louis Round-Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, has now himself resigned from the round-table and invited the Catholics to return.

The Jewish Community Council has issued a statement disassociating itself from Rabbi Isserman's views.

Now is the time to lay away your fur coat for next year, is the word from the Davidson Bros. And all you need is $5 to make sure that the coat you want will be yours when the cold weather comes around again. Of course that's only one advantage. The real point in buying now is the prices. For instance, now for $105 you can choose from 125 coats which regularly sold for $139, $159 and $175. Among the selections are Silver Fox Jackets, Gray Persian Lambs, Hollander-dyed Muskrats, Hollander Mink-dyed Muskrats, Genuine Leopard Cat Coats, and Jap Weasel Coats, and your choice of many others. And you must know that every coat is backed by the INDIANA FUR CO.'s two-year guarantee of satisfaction. Then, too, there is another group of beautiful fur coats for only $47. My suggestion to you is that you come around and see for yourself. Nuff said.

In With The Nazis

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
reported that the following incident had occurred in Vienna:

One day the slogan "Out with the Jews" was chalked on walls. Next morning under each inscription there was found the added line, "In with the Nazis."

Troops were rushed to the scene to remove the second slogan, while Vienna laughed covertly. The reason was that the walls on which the slogan had been written surrounded a cemetery.

Allies Join In Aid Mix-Up For Poland

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—The Allied Governments have informed the American Commission for Polish Relief that "they will not permit one pound of supplies to go through the blockade to Poland" until "the principle of American supervision (of relief distribution) is accepted by the German Government," the commission announced.

The commission reported that "there has been no progress on the fundamental point of securing resident American representation in occupied Poland for the relief which we are so anxious to bring to the population in the war-stricken area."

"With the exception of the city of Cracow," a statement by the commission said, "neither our representatives nor those of any other American relief organization have been permitted to go into occupied Poland for the past three months. And so far the Government has given no assurance that Americans connected with our neutral relief undertaking would be welcome in occupied Poland. Our donors quite naturally demand that in the distribution of supplies purchased with their funds they be represented by Americans at work in the field."

How Coughlin Upset Worker Is Told

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—How the radio talks of Charles E. Coughlin "inflamed" Michael J. Bierne, one of the seventeen indicted "Frontists," is related in the New York Post by columnist Dorothy Dunbar Bromley, quoting a relative of Bierne's, who said that before he began listening to the "radio priest" and reading his organ, Social Justice, the 32-year-old New York Telephone Company employee "had every reason to be content with his status."

She reveals that Bierne has been employed by the telephone company for sixteen years, had been untouched by the depression, was making $60 a week when arrested and was "a happy family man." Since listening to Coughlin a change came over Bierne. "He talked incessantly of a Communist plot to take over the United States," the writer states. "He was sure of his facts because he had heard Father Coughlin say these things over the radio."

defending the rights of Jews."

Regarding the combatting of anti-Semitism in the United States, the congress adopted a program dealing with discrimination against Jews in employment and the need for the organization of individual members of the Jewish community. A new undertaking will be the establishment of a permanent commission for vocational guidance to assist Jewish youth to secure jobs. Establishment of a special commission was authorized to combat anti-Semitic propaganda.

Weizmann Sees President Specific Solution Envisaged

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Roosevelt was quoted last week by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, as expressing the belief that when the war is over a "specific solution" to the Palestine problem will be found. Leaving the White House after a conference with the President, Dr. Weizmann paused to tell reporters that "the President apparently knows a great deal about Palestine and is deeply interested."

The Zionist leader was accompanied to the White House by Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, who introduced him to President Roosevelt but said he himself did not participate in the conference in the Chief Executive's office. Before catching a plane for Florida, Dr. Weizmann, discussing his visit to Washington, said he had come to the capital "to see a number of persons and to continue to present our case to them."

The State Department revealed

later that Dr. Weizmann had a conference with Wallace, chief of the division of Near Eastern affairs, and called upon Secretary of State Cordell Hull in his respects.

For the first time in two years retired Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis and Weizmann met last week. Solomon Goldman, president of the Zionist Organization of America, also was present. Justice Brandeis seemed cheered by the report Weizmann brought with him concerning the situation in Palestine. Dr. Goldman said. The 83-year-old jurist was delighted to hear Palestine was daily receiving absorbing refugees from the European war zone.

Both Justice Brandeis and Weizmann were convinced close of the conversation "Palestine held out the last not the only hope" for solving the Jewish problem, Dr. Goldman reported. Both were convinced at the conclusion of the visit that civilized nations would arm to make Palestine a home and for the Jews.

Kusworm Speaker For State Youth Conclave

Sidney G. Kusworm, B'nai B'rith national treasurer, will be the principal speaker at the sixth annual state conclave of the Indiana Union of Jewish Youth in Gary.

The conclave hosts, the Gary and Hammond chapters of the organization, have arranged an extensive program at the Hotel Gary. Highlights of the two-day event will be a symposium on the subject, "Anti-defamation" to be conducted by Rabbi Garry August and assisted by Herbert Rosenbloom, and a dance to be held in the Crystal ball room in the Hotel Gary.

Other social events will be a style show on Saturday afternoon, and a breakfast on Sunday morning proceeding the business session.

Arrangements have been made by the Indianapolis Chapter to charter a bus which will leave Indianapolis Saturday morning, March 2, and return Sunday afternoon, March 3. The round-trip transportation fee will be $2.25 per person, and reservations may be made by calling Miss Sylvia Eckman during the evening at HA. 2693-J. Reservations for the Conclave are being taken now, and it is important that they be made at once. The nominal reservation fee of $1.75 will include all expenses for the conclave—the style show and dance on Saturday, breakfast and dinner on Sunday.

Leo Levin, state chairman of the conclave, has been assisted by a large committee in making these arrangements.

Between You and Me—

by PAUL A. PETERS

NATION
We hear from an unimpeachable source that Ab Goldberg, the very little Zionist orator and journalist who is one of our favorites in Jewish public life, has submitted his resignation to administrative committee of the American Jewish Congress. Contending that it is no longer a democratic body in anything but name. . . . And that it is ruled by a very small clique. . . . Resignation has not been acted upon, but Ab has made it effective, absenting himself from administrative committee sessions the past five months.

You can check on this by looking at your atlas. . . . There's a town in Ontario, Canada, that must have a terrific inferiority complex these days. . . . Because its name is Swastika. . . . It would be interesting to know to what extent anti-Semitism has taken root in the town. . . . And whether the mayor's name isn't, by some perfect chance, Goebbels or Goering or Streicher.

HLIN
The editor of a leading magazine talked privately with one of the Christian Front leaders not long after Franco-way Coughlin hastily disavowed the Front. . . . He expressed the opinion that Coughlin, scared by the F. B. I. roundup of the seventeen, was going to run out powder. . . . To which the Front leader confidently replied: "No, he won't do that. If he doesn't defend us we know how to finish him—and we've told him so." . . . It was days after this conversation, reported by The Nation, that Coughlin reversed his stand and stated that he "did not dissociate" himself with the Front. . . . That Front leader may get a chance to tell a grand jury what he knows about Coughlin.

MASH
Congratulations to George Backer on the New York Post's new graphical dress. Which now makes it the most beautiful as well as the most readable newspaper in New York. . . . The well-known German-Jewish actor, Kurt Katsch, will play the German villain in the first road company of the successful anti-Nazi play, "Sin for Error." . . . World War hero Abraham Krotoshinsky, earned more medals that you can hold in one hand by carrying the message from the Argonne that saved the Lost Battalion, as in a New York post office. He doesn't like war pictures, he says (About New York) Berger of the New York Times. . . . It's a fact: Israel Maltin is the ex-auditor of the Z. O. A. The Jewish Education Committee will shortly be publishing a highly pictorial tab for the children of Jewish schools in the metropolitan area. Israel Goldberg will edit the magazine. . . . Oswald Villard, writing in that magazine recently, explains his recent pro-British attitude as follows: "I have been in Germany between the Nazis in their stronghold, and after that I am prepared to embrace the Patagonians." Villard's "Within Germany" (Century) is worth reading. . . . Abe Duker, m. e. of the temporary Jewish Record, threw what he called a cocktail party "schmoosant" at his apartment the other day. Guest of honor Ingrid Warburg. . . . A New York afternoon paper has a man with a grim sense of humor. At the bottom of a dispatch about the number of Jewish deaths in Nazi concentration camps, he placed a small ad extolling the virtues of a cemetery—in Long Island. . . . Michael Shapiro, formerly of the Jewish Theological Seminary library, has just come back from a European trip where he gathered material for a book on the Jewish situation. The book is his thesis for a master's degree at Yeshiva University. . . . Silly stunt of the season: Publication of those anti-anti-Semitism groups of a mimeographed thing called "Subversive News Weekly." . . . The German-Jewish Club gives praise for its fine weekly Aufbau, which is doing a swell job of keeping refugees informed and in helping their Americanization. . . . Did you remember to send a valentine to George Jean Nathan, the bon vivant writer who became 58 on Feb. 14, although he doesn't look a day older than 40? . . . The last number played on the radio the other day while waiting for the Hitler speech to be "You Grow Sweeter as the Years Roll By." Next time hope the song will be something like "I Can Get Along With You Very Well."

Hoover Tells Drive Dinner Africa Can Hold Ten Million

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
CHICAGO.—The highlands of Central Africa offer "tentative hope" for settlement of 10,000,000 refugees, ex-President Herbert Hoover declared at a dinner inaugurating the $2,500,000 campaign of the Chicago Jewish Welfare Fund. It was announced that $1,000,000 had already been subscribed.

"Whatever else may result from the present war," Hoover said, "I have no belief that we will not again have to meet the forces of economic deperation, of hate and intolerance. These forces are not lessened by war. We shall have millions of evicted people seeking refuge where they can live in freedom and hope."

"For 150 years America was this refuge. The leaders are agreed that America cannot open its doors in the face of our own unemployment and suffering. It has been felt that somewhere there must be opened a place in a temperate climate where 10,000,000 white men, women and children can build a civilization. The tentative hope seems to be in the highlands of Central Africa."

Here's one for the records! Fassburg had a double (or two strikes to his credit), then poodled (rolled in the gutter), got a strike on his next ball (which counted him a spare), then ended up fouling!

After the B'nai B'rith Bowling Tournament, which will be held in Dayton on Feb. 25, a team will be selected to compete against a crack contingent in Louisville. It is possible that some exciting series will be arranged with other outside teams before the close of the season. All members of the league are eligible, so keep up your practice, boys, and join the top-notchers.

Some difficult splits were turned in last Sunday. Bob Netzorg made the 4-7-10 combination, and Lou Sagalowsky, the old lefty, cleaned up the 5-6-10 and 5-7-9 in successive frames. Not bad, gentlemen, not bad in any ball game!

The 200 sluggers for the week included: Maxie Kosof, 234; Sid Shane, 213; and Sam Kroot, 208. Leon Frank, with a 104 tally, won the booby honors for the day.

We were glad to see Walter Sicanoff, who came over to watch the bowlers. Walt, who is one of the league's best performers, has been quite ill, but is now on the road to good health again.

HOLLYWOOD.—A year ago we would have enthusiastically hailed "Goose Step" with its vivid revelation of bestial Nazism. . . . but this afternoon . . . after witnessing the display of seething hatred it stirred up in an audience composed of press, rabbis, ministers, and educators—reputedly the intelligentsia—we deplore its release at this time. The theme is still idealistic—freeing Germany from the fangs of a ruthless leadership—but the result, sickening.

We seem to have spent the day in Germany. After "Goose Step" came "Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet" (new title), with its totally different aspect—science's search for truth transcending all racial and national boundaries. Here is a new Edward Robinson . . . no trace of former mannerisms . . . even his voice is more melodious. His characterization of the doctor compares with Muni's "Pasteur." Commendable is the fact that the Semitic angle is not avoided. "Dr. Ehrlich" is an admirable piece of work, educationally and artistically. We have Hitler to thank for the splendid performance of Albert Basserman as "Dr. Koch." Basserman is "Aryan" . . . had carte blanche as Germany's greatest character actor . . . but left the scene he couldn't stomach.

Odds n' Ends: Sid Grauman still nibbles around the edges of Flickerdom, plays a bit in "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star." That rasping noise you heard was Groucho sawing his way out of his own garage. . . . seems his automatic doors mistook him for somebody else. Benny Rubin, one of our best Yiddish dialects, did three air shows in one week—playing an Irishman: Jack Benny's last two broadcasts garnered 85 cents each from 10,000 persons. Proceeds went to the March of Dimes. Molly Picon makes her debut in English with her appearance in "Morning Star," scheduled for Broadway.

Shooting on Chaplin's "Dictator" is finished. Now there's only the cutting to do. . . . but Hitler needn't worry . . . compared to Charlie's shears, a turtle paces like Seabiscuit.

Day by day . . . in every way . . . we're getting younger and younger. First "Snow White" then "Wizard of Oz," "Gulliver's Travels," and now "Pinocchio." Of the four, we choose "Gulliver" for its delightful satire on the ridiculous infantilism of making war.

Michael Curtiz, who is evermore befogged in the English idiom, utters such gems as: "You have an interesting part; you play a half-breed." "You're a no-good in this picture . . . you're a sheep

The Editor's Chair:

For the past several weeks I have been reading Jacob de Haas' "Louis D. Brandeis." I was a good friend of de Haas in the last few years of his life, and while reading the biography I found many incidents which de Haas had told me. The book was like meeting de Haas again, and since it was he who led Brandeis to Zionism, his words have the authenticity and information that might have been denied other biographers.

Many passages deserve reprinting, but there is one sequence, a speech, delivered by Brandeis on Jan. 24, 1916, in which he sought for a democratically elected and constituted congress to represent the Jews of the United States. Brandeis was pleading the cause of the American Jewish Congress of that day. Here are a few paragraphs:

"The congress is not an end in itself. It is an incident of the organization of the Jewish people—an instrument through which their will may be ascertained, and when ascertained, may be carried out. In order that their will may be ascertained truly, the congress must be democratically representative. In order that their will may be carried into effect, the decision of their delegates must be supported by Jewish public opinion, intelligent, widespread and expressive of deep conviction. In order that the decision may be the wisest possible, the congress must be preceded by general public discussion of the measures proposed. The decision must embody the wisdom, not of the few, however able and public-spirited, but the thought and judgment of the whole people. The support must be active; it must be financial as well as moral. It must be the support of the million, not of the few generous philanthropic millionaires. In order that the support may be adequate, the congress must also be preceded by such organization of the Jews of America as will insure their co-operation in carrying out such measures as shall be decided upon. The congress is not to be an exalted mass meeting. It is to be the effective instrument of organized Jewry of America."

The entire biography takes up in detail many situations parallel to those facing the Jews of today, in addition to the one discussed above in connection with democratic rule in American Jewish life. One in particular, the need for preparing a definite peace plan which would

Institute A Real Achievement

WHOEVER is responsible, and this paper suspects Rabbi Maurice Goldblatt, for the "Institute On Judaism" Monday under auspices of The Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation, deserves the greatest amount of credit. Institutes are not new to the United States, and have been held with great success in many cities for years, but this is the first time such an event has been planned in Indianapolis.

Because of their very nature and their freedom from any sort of propaganda, Institutes do more to give leaders of religious denominations a clear picture of Jewish beliefs and background than any one or any combination of affairs or events.

The Institute is fortunate in having secured the services of Rabbi Samuel S. Cohon of Hebrew Union College as lecturer.

Certainly all those attending the Institute will have read the Old Testament in the original, and certainly they have a profound knowledge of Jewish history and religion, but it hardly could be expected that their study of Judaism should have extended into the Talmud and other more involved phases. Then, too, most of this study, dates back to Seminary days, so that the lectures Monday should do a great deal towards clarifying many aspects of Judaism which over the years have become confusing.

Jewish Cultural Forum Presents Program

ANNOUNCEMENT this week of the program for the second annual Jewish Cultural Forum reveals a list of lecturers which should assure the success of the communally-sponsored event. Born out of the need for an all-Jewish series of programs by national authorities, the forum this year will have the backing of the Jewish Community Center Association, the B'nai B'rith, the Council of Jewish Women, Hadassah and the Zionist District.

Last year, the first for the forum, organizations contributed money, but this year the organizations are severally sponsoring programs approved first by the forum committee, which will be presented to the community at large. The forum is still in an experimental stage. It is a fine contribution to the cultural life of the community, and the J. C. C. A. which this year has assumed most of the burden of arranging it, deserves high praise.

Current Comment

The Rabbinical Assembly, Organization of Conservative Rabbis of the United States, Takes Issue With Anti-Defamation League Tactics—Under date of September 20, 1939, the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith addressed a form letter to laymen in various communities throughout the country. The recipients of the letter were asked to "contact the rabbis of your city" and to give them a message. The message consisted in a set of instructions as to "the true and correct attitude of the Jew" on the embargo, the war, etc., and as to what opinion the rabbis should or should not express from the pulpit and otherwise on these matters. The letter was signed by Sigmund Livingston, chairman of the Anti-Defamation League.

The executive council of the Rabbinical Assembly took action on this letter. The following communication was sent to Mr. Livingston November 20:

"The Rabbinical Assembly objects to the purpose, tone and contents of this letter. We do not believe it to be in consonance with Jewish tradition to have laymen arbitrarily dictate to the spiritual leaders of their community in matters of conscience and moral outlook. It is one thing to take counsel with rabbis and to arrive co-operatively at some mutual understanding of the 'true and correct attitude' which all Jews should take in a given situation. It is another thing to determine in advance what that true and correct attitude is and then to give a mandate to the rabbis to promulgate that attitude from their pulpits.

"We desire to call your attention to the fact that throughout the United States the task of adequately representing Judaism to our Christian neighbors is capably performed by rabbis. It stands to reason that as men who are thoroughly conversant with Jewish ideals and Jewish lore they are best suited to act as ambassadors of Judaism. While we as rabbis welcome the co-operation of the Anti-Defamation League and other lay groups, we believe it unwise and even dangerous to have our spiritual leadership controlled and directed by a secular organization. It will be indeed a sorry day for Israel when the rabbis of this country will find themselves hampered in their consecrated endeavors for the promotion of Jewish religious ideals by the interference of well-meaning but misguided laymen.

"It would certainly encourage the enemies of our people if such a circular letter as you disseminated should come into their hands. We will welcome an assurance that the indiscretion committed by the Anti-Defamation League will not be repeated."

To the above communication Mr. Livingston of religion and ethics in general.

replied on November 24 in a long letter from which the following may be cited as typical: "You are entirely mistaken," Mr. Livingston wrote, "when you say that I directed just what opinion the rabbis were to express from the pulpit on the embargo. In fact, the letter clearly states that we hoped that they would not express opinions on the embargo, because it was a controversial issue and that at this time it behooved Jewish spokesmen not to participate in such a controversial issue because the same would be so easily misinterpreted and misconstrued."

After this interesting and delicate distinction between directing what opinions to express and directing not to express any opinions at all, Mr. Livingston's letter goes on to say:

"You say that the task of adequately representing Judaism is capably performed by the rabbis. I think that is their duty. At no time have we desired in any manner to interpret for the rabbis Judaism, that is, the religion of the Jew. Questions of public relations are, however, a different subject . . ."

The interesting distinction here to be noted is that between the religion of the Jew and his "public relations."

It would be beside the point to continue the discussion with the Anti-Defamation League in these columns. What is important for us, as members of the Rabbinical Assembly, is the conception of Judaism and the rabbinic office which seems to operate in the mind of a lay organization like the Anti-Defamation League. This conception may be summarized as follows:

1. The rabbinic office is properly subject to local "lobbying"—or to indirect pressure tactics locally applied by influential laymen.
2. The proper domain of the rabbinic office is with the "religion of the Jew." What this consists in is not specified, but presumably it has reference to a theological, ritual and literary tradition, which is to be kept carefully separate from social issues, or "public relations."
3. Judaism, "as such," has no opinions, or has no business having any, on vital world problems, and our country's relation to them.

Comment on this conception, if we have correctly interpreted it, is superfluous. But it is in order to raise the question: To what extent are we rabbis ourselves responsible for this narrow, almost degraded, conception by our failure to assert to laymen, vigorously and comprehensively, a different one? Is it not time for the American rabbinate to meet the challenge here implied? This would be not only to assert the proper dignity and function of the rabbinic office, but also to teach a correct understanding of Judaism, and

Freedom of the Press Inquires About Jewish Community Credit Union

To the Editor:

I read with considerable interest your editorial in the current issue of the Post captioned "Forty-Over $1,000" and, if possible, we like to get further details on subject.

What is this Jewish Community Credit Union; is it a loan association or is it a business enterprise? While we have, in Chicago, numerous small loan associations there is none that will loan amounts of $1,000 and over, your editorial indicates.

I shall be grateful to you if you will furnish additional information as I would like to help organize a similar group in Chicago.

Thanking you for your cooperation and assuring you of my appreciation, I beg to be insure the right to live freely Jews of Europe, creeps into biography at many places, since deals mainly with the years leading up to the World War.

For instance, here's a sentence which concerns the situation of General Jewish Council. Speeches of the American Jewish Congress Brandeis said: "It cannot be effective if its functions are limited to the passing of resolutions, however carefully framed."

In connection with Chaim Weizmann's visit here, the chapter of his relations with Brandeis, Brandeis charged Weizmann with deceiving him in managing affairs of the World Zionist Organization have a present-day interest, too.

It doesn't help much, but I help but wonder about American Jewish life if a man with Brandeis' passion for democracy and equal moral courage were to appear on the scene.
